Expanding Support and Development Services for a Medical Company

Team Augmentation, Software architecture, Full Stack Software Development, Mobile development, BI

Synergo Group was initially engaged to support an application following the acquisition of the Startup we were working with. As we demonstrated our capabilities, the relationship expanded, leading to the provision of additional services including software development, mobile development, and business intelligence through team augmentation. Our partnership evolved to meet the growing and diverse needs of the company.

OUTCOME

- Enhanced the company's business intelligence capabilities with specialized team augmentation.
- Facilitated a scalable and responsive IT support framework to address evolving business requirements.
- Strengthened the client's operational capacity through dedicated and expert team integration.
